Hemorrhoids Cured.

I wish the afflicted and suffering to know that I positively assert that for twenty-nine years I have constantly suffered intonso agony with that most terrible disease known as hemorrhoids, or piles, in their very worst form. I have tried every available prescription, but no curative end, i have taken one jug (which contained one gallon) of Microbe Killer, and it has completely courd me. It now feels like a dream that I have ever suffered with that disease.

WATTERSON'S SNAP-SHOTS.

Harrison Calm and safe—The Anti's Can't is Impossible. lleary Watterson's Washington Dispatch to Louis ville Courier-Journal.

That dangerous Democratic majority, of which mention was made in these columns when Congress first assembled, has been prevented thus far from inflicting any positive hurt upon either the country or the party. Its deeds have been chiefly negative. Its forecasts are not ominous. It is, indeed, much above the average in abilities, contains several young men who are destined to cut a figure in the world, and gives a casual observer the interesting.

stined to cut a figure in the world, and gives a casual observer the impression that it is marking a certain line of transition between the new and the old, which will appear more distinctly hereafter. But such incertitude as to the immediate future I have never known among men calling themselves leaders, or thinking themselves so, and this incertitude, although greater on the Democratic side, is not wholly absent from the Republican.

The Republicans do not want Mr. Harrison. He is too cold and unresponsive. He is too much his own man and too little anybody cloc's man. The man who is really wanted is Mr. Blaine; but Mr. Blaine is in distressingly poor health—is absolutely unequal to the demands of an active campaign—and he being out of the question, the Republican managers are beating the bushes for some one to beat Mr. Harrison, and, to date, without much sucess.

The President is a very level-headed.

for some one to beat Mr. Harrison, and, to date, without much success.

The President is a very level-headed politician. He holds an exceedingly strong hand, and he knows it. He is playing this steadily and skilfully. I do not believe that the opposition can be united against him. It is insignificant neither in numbers nor in leaders, but it is scattered and incoherent. If cant neither in numbers nor in leaders, but it is scattered and incoherent. If it could be consolidated, and after dexterous handling could be massed either upon Robert Todd Lincoln or Thomas Brackett Reed, it might win. But nothing is less likely. Hence it is that Mr. Harrison sits with the calm confidence of the believing Christian, who has High, Low, John in sight, and who murmurs to himself amid the surrounding din "a little in an honest way—God knows my heart!"

The Democrats, on the other hand knows my heart!".

The Democrats, on the other hand, are away out at sea. No one believes the election of Mr. Cleveland possible, yet all are afraid of the defeated ex-President's show of strength in states wholly Democratic, or hopelessly Republican. It may be that fate has in reserve a few more Democratic reverses. It may be that the great Democratic party stands in need of additional discipline at the hands of that God of whom it has been written that "whom He loveth, He chasteneth." If so, so be it! But it does seem to me that a little sober reflection, and the sensible little sober reflection, and the sensible putting of this and that together, would save of us a world of needless wander-ing through the wilderness of doubt and disaster.

Truthfulness in Children.

Harper's Botor. Children are naturally truthful and generous; and what a comment it is on our attitude towards them that they so our attitude towards them that they so often become otherwise before they reach the school age! Children shrink from censure, and soon learn to try to hide their mistakes to avoid being blamed. Besides, many loving, intelligent parents deceive their children by act if not by word; and even a baby takes in this sort of thing as something to be tried, and if he is bright, will return it fourfold. We also judge their baby prattle and reasoning from our standpoint, not from their ideal world, and so accuse them of that of which and so accuse them of that of which they are entirely innocent, thus awak-ening and emphasizing what we would prevent. It takes a wise insight to de tect the difference between a half-devel-oped good that ought to be let alone and a fault that needs to be corrected.

a fault that needs to be corrected.

A friend once told me that she did not know what to do with her little boy, four years old, who had for the last few days been telling all sorts of untruths, with no reason or sense in them. For instance, that morning she told him she did not want him to carry out, as he had been doing through the out, as he had been doing through the winter, his little basket of apples to share with his playmates, as the apples were nearly some were nearly gone. Two or three hours after, she heard his little feet on the cellar stairs. She went out and saw him coming up the stairs with his basket of apples.

"Why, Eben, did I not tell you not to bring up any more apples for the children?"

Yes'm." answered the little fellow,

"Yes'm." answered the little fellow, pursuing his way.
"Why do you bring them, then?"
"I'm not bringing them," said he.
"Is not that a basket of apples you have in your hand?"
"Yes, 'm."
"Well, then, you are bringing up apples, as I told you to, are you not?"
"No, mamma," he said, with an honest expression of face.
She was shocked at his deliberate and stupid untruth, and also that he should

She was shocked at his deliberate and stupid untruth, and also that he should seem so indifferent about it. The child was, and is now that he is grown, perfectly honest and truthful; but here was a phase of development when the refraction of mental rays produced this crooked result in his mind. The prime clament of natural is decention, and element of untruth is deception, here was no intention to deceive.

Resistance to Tammany.

Harper's Weekly. The experience of this winter has demonstrated more clearly than ever, if it were possible, that the only chance for honesty in any branch of administration in the city lies in the union of all good citizens against Tammany Hall. If Democrats and Republicans do not disregard party wholly in their action for municipal administration, Tammany will remain supreme. The great advantage of the new City Club is that it prevents the waste of all the energy and time and money which are put into and time and money which are put into the impromptu efforts to deal with Tammany Hall. Even in the event of defeat, all these resources will not be scattered, but will remain for a renewed scattered, but will remain for a renewed effort. A still greater advantage will be the weakening of party idolatry, which must necessarily follow the cordial cooperation of men of different parties to promote honest non-partisan public administration. Just in the degree that the spirit from which the club springs extends a wholesome political indexes extends, a wholesome political indepen-dence will be stimulated.

Imitators and Impostors.

The unequalled success of Allcock's Porous Plasters as an external remedy POROUS PLASTERS as an external remedy has induced unscrupulous parties to offer imitations, which they endeavor to sell on the reputation of ALLCOCK'S. It is an absurdity to speak of them in the same category as the genuino porous plastor. The stock market to-day exhibited considerable irregularity, but while there was liquidation in spots and a few stocks were kept uader the hammer, the general list as a rule disnlayed a firm temper throughout most of the session, though inaterial changes in quotations were as usual conduct to a few stocks only. Northern Paelic preferred was the one stock upon which the bear efforts were concentrated, and some measure of success attended their drives at it, while it was rendered for some time the most neither stock on the list. Omaha and Hocking Valley were prominent in the dealings, the latter yielding readily, though the former was more firmly held. Realizations marked the trading in the last hour, and the pressure upon Northern Taelide was brought to bear, with the effect of sangting prices. The final prices are fregular and only slightly changed from those of last evening in the great majority of stocks.

Breadstuffs and Provisions.

Chicago, May 10.—Apprehension as to the government crop report was the chief controlling factor on the 'change to-day. There was also a feeling among wheat traders that the worst conditions were discounted, that if the market, less than legalin on the extremely had reports of Monday, did not, show renewed strength this morning, then it will be a heavy market indeed when conditions improve, as it was argued they must very soon. The bears were quick to see the change of sentiment and they sod the wheat down 1½c. There was a rush to sell right from the start, and while the offerings were readily absorbed for a time, they began to get excessive, and a very weak feeling followed. The lates state reports had generally shown improvements in wheat, and the impression was very general that the government document would be a bearish one, hence there was a disposition to sell in an-ticipation of its effect on the market. Corn was equally weak for July. Oats were quite excited at the opening, and prices were the highest of the day. Later be-came weak and declined 1/c from yesterday. Provisions were fairly active, but towards the close became weak, closing at a loss of from 15c to 39c.
